Bidding Challenge by Tim Cope & Glen Holman

Entries are invited for this workshop hosted by Tim Cope & Glen Holman, semi-finalists in THE BRIDGE WORLD Challenge the Champs

Founded in 1929 by Ely Culbertson, The Bridge World is widely considered to be the world's leading bridge magazine. For ninety years, every important bridge analyst in the history of the game has contributed. Every ten years, the magazine runs a challenge of the decade called Challenge the Champs where two leading pairs each month are invited to compete by bidding deals taken from old tournament reports or submitted by readers. Winning pairs are "retired" after four victories, so this decade has seen about 140 world-class pairs pitting their wits against each other. The challenge reaches its climax when the top eight pairs are invited into the knock-out stage. Ours hosts, Tim and Glen, made the cut, won their quarter-final match but sadly lost their semi-final match. Still - to finish joint third in a decade-long challenge is no mean feat! If you want to know how well you might have fared, don't delay - submit your entry (and payment) today.
